HOW BIG IS AMERICA?

How big is America?

Not how many square miles does it cover, but what is its capacity for further growth and development? Has it reached the limit in industrial expansion, in transportation progress, in productive capacity?

Apparently some people think it has, and they would adjust our economy to conform with the view that the nation is not likely to develop further.

This was brought out by Senator Harry S. Truman in discussing the bill now before Congress whereby the various modes of transportation would be combined into a limited number of systems under the ownership of a few large companies. Declared the Senator, "The reason I differ with the proposed 'integration' of transportation is that I believe the proposal is fundamentally based upon the concept that a permanent level or pattern of transportation has been achieved and it is now simply a question of organizing its structure and distributing its fruits."

He pointed out that competition has spurred the constant effort to furnish better service at lower cost and has brought about the present high transportation standards. Obviously, to set up a few large systems throughout our country which would control virtually all forms of transportation within their respective areas would eliminate the competitive factor and its incentive toward improvement.

How big is America? Just as big as we are willing to let it become through competition and freedom of enterprise.

BLACK MARKET BLACKOUT

It is well that Governor Warren has included a State anti-black market gasoline law in the call for the special session of the Legislature. In this way the backing of California law can be pressed into the fight against illegal gas trafficking.

The recent visit to California of Shad Polier, special government agent whose business it is to hunt down gas racketeers, has brought out the seriousness of the whole gasoline situation. He reminded us that 2½ million gallons of gas are flowing into illegitimate channels daily, that 5 to 20 per cent of all gas coupons are counterfeits, and that hijacking of gasoline trucks and similar gangster practises reminiscent of the "torrid twenties" are increasing.

Those citizens who selfishly patronize the black market are striking at the very core of the war effort. They are burning millions of gallons of gas for personal pleasure and convenience that could be used to drive our tanks on the battlefield, transport war workers to and from their jobs, keep the great fleet of commercial trucks rolling in their vital task of moving great quantities of war materials and keeping scores of communities supplied with food.

It is high time for such people to realize that they are supporting Hitler—and high time to stop it. The cooperation of every citizen is absolutely essential if we are to succeed in "blacking out" the black market.

HOW YOU CAN HELP HOLD PRICES DOWN NOW

1. Buy only what you really need and make the goods you have last longer through proper care and avoidance of waste.

2. When you do buy, pay no more than ceiling prices and buy rationed goods only by exchanging stamps.

3. Put your money to work fighting the war in taxes . . . any taxes your country needs.

4. Put your money to work fighting the war and ensuring your personal post-war world by buying and holding as many War Bonds as you possibly can afford.

5. Assure your post-war independence by paying off debts and avoiding new ones.

6. Provide for your own and your family's future with adequate life insurance and savings.

7. Don't try to profit from the war in the prices and wages you ask.

6 Stew-pendous Ways to Stretch Meat Rations

There's not a more versatile dish in the archives of American culinary art than the famous meat stew. Found on the tables of rich and poor alike, it is a standard item on the national bill of fare.

Even with American meat production at an all-time high, the multiple requirements of the armed forces, lend-lease, and civilians necessitate that meat be conserved and extended. The nation's cooks and homemakers, searching for ways to extend meat dishes and conserve precious ration points, have discovered that merely by adding one or two ingredients to the basic American stew they can achieve almost an endless variety of meat dishes with an international flavor.

Following are recipes for six stews which speak various languages:

Hungarian Goulash

1 pound beef (for stew)
2 medium onions, chopped
Lard or drippings for browning
1 tablespoon paprika
1 clove garlic, minced
2 cups water
4-6 potatoes, diced
1 teaspoon salt

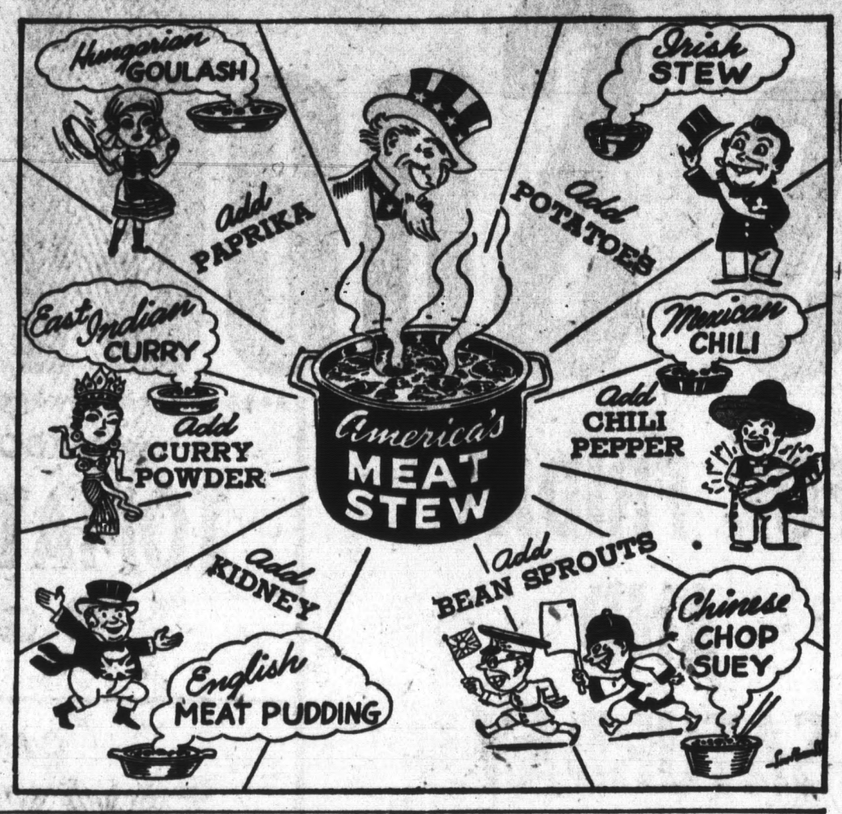
Cook onions in drippings about 5 minutes. Add the meat and seasonings and water. Simmer one hour. Add diced potatoes. Simmer until tender, about 30 minutes. Add bread dumplings if desired.

East Indian Curry

1½ cups cubed lamb
Lard or drippings for browning
¾ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
¼ clove garlic, finely chopped
1 tablespoon curry powder
1½ teaspoons salt
2 cups lamb broth (stock made from bones removed from lamb roast)
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Cover meat with water and simmer until tender. Brown vegetables in drippings, then combine them with seasonings, broth, and meat. Simmer for 30 minutes. Thicken with flour. Serve the curry with rice.

STEW TALKS MANY LANGUAGES



English Meat Pudding

1 beef kidney
1½ cups water or soup stock
1 pound chuck steak
Lard or drippings for browning
Salt and pepper

Wash kidney, cut into pieces. Cover with water and simmer about 30 minutes. Cut steak into strips and brown. Add one-half cup water and simmer until tender. Combine steak and kidney. Season. Thicken gravy. Serve with or without a top of pastry or biscuits.

Mexican Chili

1 pound coarsely ground or chopped beef
Lard or drippings for browning
½ cup onion, chopped
1 tablespoon garlic, minced
2 tablespoons chili pepper
1 tablespoon paprika
1 cup tomatoes
3 cups cooked red beans

Brown meat and onions in lard or drippings. Add garlic, chili pepper, paprika, and tomatoes. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Add cooked beans. Heat and serve on boiled rice, if desired.

Chinese Chop Suey

1½ pounds pork shoulder, cubed
Lard or drippings for browning
1 cup celery, cut in 1-inch pieces
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
1 can bean sprouts
6 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons brown sauce
2 tablespoons soy sauce
Salt and pepper

Brown pork. Add celery, green pepper, and tomatoes, and simmer about 30 minutes. Add drained bean sprouts. Thicken with cornstarch blended with brown sauce, soy sauce, and water. Season to taste. Serve with boiled rice.

Irish Stew

2 pounds lamb (for stew)
Water to cover lamb
½ cup carrots, diced
½ cup turnips, diced
1 onion, sliced
4 cups potatoes, sliced or diced
¼ cup flour
Salt and pepper

Simmer lamb for 1 hour. Add vegetables and simmer for 30 minutes. Add potatoes and cook 30 minutes longer. Thicken gravy. Serve.
